Letter of credentials and authorization to find business partners in North America for the Republic of Georgia.

DGL International is authorized on behalf of the State Committee of Foreign Economic Relations of the Republic of Georgia to conduct business negotiations with North American companies on various economic development projects in Georgia. This will include but not be limited to finding the most reliable partners on a competitive basis for different economic projects from foreign investors and firms.

DGL International shall act as the Committee's agent in North America for screening upon its request the credibility and reliability of any international company or agency willing to offer development investment to Georgia.

DGL International shall develop a rating system for evaluating the effectiveness of various business proposals with respect to the local specifications and potentials.

DGL International shall commence this relationship by providing an economic study together with a group of experts of the State Committee of Foreign Economic Relations of the potentials, needs and demands of the Georgian economy, building a computer database and organizing and holding a seminar in the United States not later than in the fall, 1992 for North America companies involved in this project.

As a logical consequence, DGL International shall follow with a match up of economic partnership between Georgian and North American companies upon the requests from both sides, and monitor start-up and long term maintenance of all projects.

Working upon this project DGL International shall provide a group of experts in various fields and economic sectors to come to the Republic of Georgia to incorporate into cooperative development of joint efforts.

DGL International representative shall be accredited at the Committee of Foreign Economic Relations.

Chairman of the State Committee of Foreign Economic Relations of the Republic of Georgia
